

INGENUITY SYSTEMS EXPANDS SCOPE OF LICENSING AGREEMENT WITH sanofi-aventis

Ingenuity Pathways Analysis 3.1 will be deployed globally to researchers at sanofi-aventis and integrated with internal solutions.

Redwood City, CA – February xx, 2006 – Ingenuity Systems today announced that they have expanded the terms of their existing agreement with sanofi-aventis US, Inc. for access to Ingenuity Content and Ingenuity Pathways Analysis software.

Ingenuity Pathways Analysis (IPA) is a web-delivered software application that enables researchers to model, analyze and understand the complex biological systems at the core of life science research. IPA is deployed in most major pharmaceutical companies and hundreds of biotechnology companies and academic institutions globally. It supports analysis of all high throughput analysis platforms and is used in virtually all areas of drug discovery and development from target identification and validation to biomarkers, predictive toxicology, and pharmacogenomics.

“Sanofi-aventis was one of the earliest adopters of Ingenuity technology and we are very pleased that we have been able to expand our relationship with this terrific team year after year,” stated Peter DiLaura, Vice President, Sales and Customer Support. “The Ingenuity product line enables IPA users to understand complex biology within their research, in addition to supporting the Bioinformatics team to further develop robust and proprietary computational solutions.”

Ingenuity Pathways Analysis is available as a web-delivered, hosted, or deployed solution. Fully functional complimentary trials are available at www.ingenuity.com/trial.

About Ingenuity Systems®

Ingenuity enables researchers to model, analyze and understand complex biological systems foundational to human health and disease. The Ingenuity products include pathways analysis software and knowledge bases for biologists and bioinformaticians, and enterprise knowledge management infrastructure, content and services for leading pharmaceutical and biotech companies. Ingenuity was founded in 1998 and is headquartered in Redwood City, California with offices in Germany, Switzerland, France, the United Kingdom, and Japan. www.ingenuity.com.

Contact:

Heidi Bullock
Director, Marketing
Ingenuity
650.381.5150

#